

Special Issue in Review of Network Economics on the Economics of Energy Markets

The Review of Network Economics together with the Centre for European Economic Research (ZEW) and the Mannheim Centre for Competition and Innovation (MaCCI) announces a Call for Papers.

The special issue will cover a broad range of topics which are fundamental to the energy industry. The non-exhaustive list of topics includes competition and regulation in electricity markets, investment in energy infrastructures, instruments for achieving environmental policy goals, energy demand, energy efficiency, and energy innovation.

SUBMISSION INSTRUCTIONS

The call for papers is linked to the Sixth Mannheim Energy Conference (11–12 May 2017).

Conference participants are encouraged to declare their interest in submitting a paper to be reviewed for publication in the Special Issue by sending an email to energy2017@zew.de.

The call for papers is also open to other researchers. To have your paper reviewed for the Special Issue, please send your paper to energy2017@zew.de.

The deadline for declarations and paper submissions is 30 June 2017. Applicants will be notified of the results no later than 31 August 2017. Final accepted submissions will be due by 31 October 2017 and the expected online publication date is December 2017.

EDITORIAL INFORMATION

The special issue will be edited by the Organizers of the Sixth Mannheim Energy Conference: Robert Germeshausen · Sven Heim · Albert Roger · Dominik Schober · Nikolas Wölfling · Oliver Woll
